Dear friends and colleagues,

We would like to greet you and wish good health, great success both in personal and business field. We want you to know that in these difficult times we think about you - our dear friends, colleagues and partners throughout the whole world.

As you all know, in these extremely difficult times, when the whole world is facing the unprecedented challenges, we were not able to meet in person for more than half a year with you, our dearest friends and colleagues. We couldn't discuss and share our views and experiences, socialize and spend beautiful time together at various conferences, meetings and events. We all hope that this situation will finish soon, so we can once again meet and enjoy friendship and cooperation. We believe that these challenges will further strengthen and deepen our relationships and friendship and make us even more supportive of each other.

And finally, we would like to thank you for the beautiful and successful cooperation that we have had so far and wish that it continue for many more years.

Stay safe and healthy.

Yours sincerely,

Rade Šćekić
